So whoever is in Christ is a new creation: the old things have passed away; behold, new things have come.

2 CORINTHIANS 5:17

The Lord Jesus calls his children to repentance, before the purification and his second coming.

My Lord, I want to be all yours. Feel my heart, it beats for You, only for You, because You are my King.

King of Love, because you bring me consolation and joy. Yes, You are at the center of my heart, because wherever I go You are always with me.

«Daughter, I know that you love Me and love your neighbor too, and this is good. Always keep my Word.

I came into the world making myself a man, taking your form to redeem you from eternal damnation; but many of you have forgotten it, they have buried this Love of mine, putting Me aside in their hearts. Woe to those who act with these thoughts, never be. Come back with the creed of faith in you, raising your hands to heaven, asking for forgiveness, mercy.

Generation where are you going without Me? Do not indulge in sin, one day you will be asked:

Why son did you turn your back on me?

And yet I loved you to the point of accepting the martyrdom of the Cross and you want to go out into the world, to have what? you deserve! Only worries the world gives you.

Think, once spent here in your exile, everything will end up appearing before Me, in My judgment. Don't you ask yourself about this? In this wandering of yours? It is not the real life you are living, the real life is here, in my Kingdom of eternal Love.

Before I return to Earth, in my Second Coming, return to Me. Can't you see how I wait for you, I wait for you on this Holy Wood of the Cross, where I extend my Divine Arms to tell you:

Come my son.

Come all of you, my Heart is thirsty for your love, give Me love and my Arms will lift you up, giving you the sublime grace to make the new creature¹ return within you. In this new guise you will face the purification, which I will have to send, to give a new balance to this world of yours.

The Lord Jesus spoke to this beloved daughter of mine. To all of you my children I give you my Peace. The Most Holy Trinity. The Amen».

This message has a clear and explicit place for renewal, for the new man, with the grace of Christ. This reference is found in the second letter to the Corinthians. This letter presents some leaps within its exposition. This thing suggests that two or more letters of Paul, written at different times and on different occasions, merged in it. The passage is part of the so-called "polemical letter", written by the apostle to reaffirm the validity of his work before some preachers who arrived in Corinth, who made use of a fascinating personality and supernatural gifts. Paul reminds us that to follow these personalities is to remain in the old man, in the style of the world that seeks success and easy enthusiasm. He exhorts the Corinthians to become a new creature. The old period has now passed, but there is a new era in which believers in Christ can participate through reconciliation with God.

Preachers who came to Corinth backed up their words with ecstatic experiences, to which the Corinthians were very sensitive. Paul in the verse preceding this one reminds us that such manifestations are still works of the flesh. The believer in Christ, on the other hand, is a new creature and must leave behind the works of the flesh, the old things. The expression new creature is also mentioned in the verses of the Apocalypse. Indeed it is written that at the end of the world (at the return of Christ) every person will become a new creature. Paul borrows the meaning and adapts it to the Gospel message. The new creature (according to John) will be realized at the end of time, but already now whoever believes in Christ is a new creature. The experience of liberation brought by Christ for the individual believer is equal to the upheaval of the end times, it is the eruption of a new era.
